Court of Appeals Affirms Decision in Railroad Franchise Cases.

State Board Has the Right to Certify for Collection of Franchise Taxes.

RATHBONE TO BE PARDONED

STATE BOARD UPHELD.

Frankfort, June 10.—The court of appeals this morning affirmed the judgment of the Franklin circuit court in the franchise tax case of the Southern railway in Kentucky, and others, against State Auditor Gns Conner and the members of the state board of valuation and assessment.

The whole court sat and Chief Justice Gandy delivered the opinion, Justices Dunelle and Burnam dissenting. The decision upholds the state board and declares that the board is authorized and directed by the franchise tax law to certify in the various counties, towns and taxing districts for the collection of the franchise tax assessed against railroad corporations. This means the payment annually to towns and cities of hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes.

WITHDRAWS FROM THE RACE

Williamstown, Ky., June 10.—Prior to last night, Colnel A. S. Berry stated that he entered the congressional race against his own judgment and contrary to the desire of his family. He has concluded to withdraw from the race.

MISERABLE FATE OF PATIENTS IN A CHICAGO SANITARIUM YESTERDAY.

About Thirty Were Injured and Ten Were Lost in the Flames.

A DESPERATE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Chicago, June 10.—Nine men and one woman were killed and about thirty persons were injured in a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed the sanitarium conducted by the Saint Luke's society at the corner of Wabash avenue and Twenty-first street. The society occupied the building which was long known as the Hotel Woodruff and for a brief period as the Hotel Lancaster. By far the greater portion of the patients received in the institution were those seeking cure from the drink habit and those who were addicted to the use of drugs. Several of these were strapped to their beds and it was found impossible to save them, so rapidly did the fire spread through the building. The list of the dead as far as known at present is as follows:

The dead are: S. J. Newell, Carl A. Carlson, Joseph Harrington, Samuel Dalzell, Dr. J. T. Stanton, Geo. A. Ribbeck, Hilldale, Mich.; William Kent, alderman of the Fourth Ward, Chicago; John B. Knappman, Mrs. M. Baumann; B. H. Bnyd, 78 years of age, a member of the medical staff of the institution.

About thirty were injured, some of them perhaps fatally.

The fire originated in the basement of the building and spread rapidly to the upper stories through the elevator shaft.

As the cry of fire rang through the building patients sprang from their beds and before they could be prevented several had jumped from the windows in the pavement. The fire department was on the scene within a few minutes and as the windows were filled with people, shrieking for help, the firemen devoted their first efforts to save lives and allowed the fire to burn. While a large number of people were being carried down the ladders by the firemen the fire got such headway that there was almost no chance for those on the upper floors of the buildings to make their escape, and those who were not suffocated were killed or badly injured by leaping from the windows.

Alderman Kent was in a room on the fifth floor with his attendant, A. W. Wattles. The elderman, who has been totally blind for many years, was in a straight jacket, and his hands were fastened to a belt that passed around his wrist. When the alarm of fire was sounded Wattles ran to investigate. He found the elevator shaft a mass of flames and ran back to help the alderman, who, blind and unable to do anything with his hands, was almost mad with fear and was shouting like an insane person. He had groped his way to the door and by the time his attendant reached him had fallen to the floor overcome with smoke. Wattles seized him and tried to drag him down the hall to a place of safety, but it was almost impossible to do anything with him. Wattles was finally compelled to run for his life. He ran to a window on the south side of the building across which were iron bars. Wattles managed to tear two of these from their fastenings, and, with two other men who had followed him, climbed out on the sill. They were seen by the firemen, who called to them to remain where they were and they would save them.

A ladder was run up as high as possible and the two men with Wattles were taken down. He became crazed with excitement and sprang for a net which some men were holding on the sidewalk beneath. He fell partly in it and partly on the sidewalk, and sustained injuries which probably will cause his death.

Kent was lying on the floor of his room, and evidently died of suffocation. His body was burned after death. Three hours after the outbreak of the fire it was found on the floor of his room.

Across a fourth story window on the north side was a heavy wire screen, and on the outside of the screen were iron bars running parallel to the sill. The space between these bars was too small to allow the passage of even a small boy, and behind them were gathered a crowd of men whose numbers were afterward found to be between twenty-five and thirty. Escape in other directions was impossible. The men closest to the screen tore and tugged at it in a vain effort to tear it from its fastenings and the men behind them fought madly to get close enough to the screen to fasten their fingers in it. A number of the men at the window were in straight jackets and manacles, and those not being able to help themselves or others were the wildest of all in their frantic efforts to break the bars.

When the heavy bars were finally torn away by the united efforts of the men, there was a rush for the window, and Dr. A. C. Anderson of Chicago was the first man through. He sprang for the platform of the fire escape in front of the window and managed to catch it and thus was saved.

The next man through the window was G. S. Gott of La Vergne, Ill. Anderson was so much exhausted that he was not able to make the leap himself. He crouched on the window sill while the men on the inside clamored for him to jump. Clinton Osborne, a real estate dealer of New York, was the third man. He crawled out beside Gott, and told the men inside to grasp his feet. This they did, and telling Gott to take hold of his wrists and pull him up onto the sill, Osborne, and acquired sufficient purchase and then swung him up onto the landing of the fire escape, where Dr. Anderson seized and held him, and he and Gott then formed a chain, Gott holding to the fire escape and Anderson tightly held by Gott with one hand, reaching out toward the window, so that the men, one by one as they crawled through, were able to take one step on a ledge which might have escaped his memory.

PROMINENT STOCK RAISER FROM GLASGOW HERE ON BUSINESS.

Mr. F. B. Kimberlaine of Glasgow, Ky., was in the city this morning en route to the lower part of the county, where he hopes to purchase four or five hundred acres of land on which to raise stock.

Mr. Kimberlaine is a prominent stock raiser, and desires to own a large tract in this county. As yet he has made no arrangements to close a deal for any property in this county. He went to the Terrell farm today on the Dick Fowler.

and make a leap to the platform of the fire escape, down which they made their way to the ground. Twenty-five men made their escape in this manner and when the last one passed under the iron bar the building was a furnace close behind him. He said that there were several men lying on the floor overcome by smoke when he left, and they all perished. It is doubtful if enough of their bodies will be found to enable them to be identified.

Of the thirty-four persons injured in the fire yesterday, three will die, making the total thirteen.

Trouble is threatened for the hospital authorities. The inquest has been postponed, and it will be decided whether or not patients were strapped down, and whether or not there were sufficient attendants.

AN OLD CAPIAS.

A COUNTRY DARKEY SERVING A SIX YEAR OLD FINE.

Wyatt Bicey, colored, of the country, was arrested yesterday afternoon late on an old warrant for gaming and lodging in jail last night. Bicey had been in the courts several times for gaming and had paid so many fines, he said, that he thought this was paid. The entire judgment will amount to about $34.

The bench warrant was issued more than six years ago and the fine had been standing against him that long. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff George House. The sheriff is cleaning all the old fines up and straightening the office out. He has made several arrests on old warrants and is making great progress in this direction. Bicey was unable to find a receipt for this fine and thinks possibly it might have escaped his memory.

INTERESTING RAILROAD NEWS

Today is the last day of the school term for this year and the pupils were nearly all present at the sounding of the last gong calling school to order.

This afternoon the teachers will dismiss the pupils until Friday, when they will receive their promotion, demotion, and transfer cards. Superintendent Hatfield stated this morning that this has been one of the best years the schools have had, and is much gratified with the results. The raised requirements have proven even more satisfactory than expected and as a result the pupils in the inner grades, the fourth and fifth, are as proficient in grammar, a very hard subject for the younger pupils, as the pupils in the eighth grades formerly were. The text book formerly used was discarded and a better one selected and the requirements, the promotion of pupils from A division of one grade to the B of the next, the B division being lower than the A, will be continued. Formerly the pupils were promoted to the division from which they left and if in the A division of the first grade the promotion was made to the A of the second grade. This is not done any more unless the pupil shows an unusual amount of interest in his work and makes a very high grade. In ordinary cases he is promoted from the A first to the B second.

Young People of Paducah Married at Metropolis Last Night.

Mr. Lon Potter and Miss Adeline Lindsey United on Bettie Owen.

Mr. Lon S. Potter, the son of Officer Tom Potter, and Miss Adeline Lindsey, the daughter of Mr. H. C. Lindsey, of the Bell Spoke factory, were married last night at 10 o'clock on the steamer Bettie Owen by Judge Liggett, at the Metropolis landing.

The groom left the city on the afternoon boat and was met by his bride that night, Miss Lindsey going to Metropolis on the Bettie Owen excursion. Both are popular young people and will receive the congratulations of their many friends and acquaintances.

They will reside at the residence of the bride and tonight Mr. Thomas Garvey and wife, of South Third street, will entertain them with a reception. The marriage was a runaway match.

TO ARRANGE BOND.

YOUNG MOODY'S FRIENDS ARRIVE TO GET HIM OUT OF JAIL.

Mr. Minter, of Shawneetown, arrived in the city this morning and immediately set about arranging for bond for young Charles Moody, the postal clerk who is in jail charged with the theft of money from registered letters he is accused of having opened. Mr. Minter will arrange, he thinks, the bond by tomorrow and Moody will return to Shawneetown, his home. The bond is $1,000.

LOTTA HAMILTON ARRESTED THIS MORNING BY EXTRA POLICEMAN CLARK.

Lotta Hamilton, colored, was arrested this morning on a warrant charging her with obtaining property under false pretenses.

She is charged with having gone to the Cochran shoe store and secured a $2 pair of shoes claiming that Mrs. Nelson Soule had sent for them. This was denied and the warrant sworn out. Officer Dick Clark, serving as an extra police, made the arrest.

THIS HARDLY EXPRESSES WHAT PADUCAH PEOPLE SAY OF IT.

Any itchiness of the skin is annoying. Little danger in itching skin diseases, but they make you miserable. Doan's Ointment is never failing one.

For piles, eczema, all itching troubles Paducah citizens endorse it.

Miss Annie Richardson, of 820 South Third street, says: "After using a great many ointments and salves, some of which brought temporary results, I tried Doan's Ointment, getting it at DuBois and Co.'s drug store. The treatment stamped that remedy as one fully up to its representations for it made a complete cure, and up to date there has been no recurrence."

FOR EXPANSION

MICHIGAN MACCABEES ARE IN FAVOR OF BRANCHING OUT.

Marquette, Mich., June 10—The state camp meeting of Macabees which opened with a big parade here today marks an epoch in the history of the order. After a fierce fight Great Commander Boynton of Port Huron has carried the day for expansion. A large majority of the 1200 delegates present declare themselves in favor of the expansion plan, which will allow the Michigan Macabees' organization to work in any state in the union, instead of confining its membership to the state of Michigan as heretofore. Thomas A. Watson, leader of the anti-expansion forces, from all indications, will be defeated for re-election for great record keeper. A. M. Slay is his opponent and it is expected with the aid of Boynton will be elected.

Engineer Joe McCann has returned from Norfolk, Va., where he attended the National Convention of Engineers.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICANS

The State Convention Takes Place at Harrisburg Tomorrow.

Senator Quay, According to Report, Controls Majority of Delegates.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 10—Tomorrow at noon is the time fixed for the beginning of the Republican state convention, and, though every politician of greater or lesser note is here and frequent conferences have been held, no agreement has been reached on a candidate for governor so far as is known. Attorney General Elkin is the only avowed candidate for the head of the ticket. But in the way of his success there are difficulties believed to be insurmountable. The oldest campaigner cannot remember such a chaotic condition of affairs as prevails. Elkin is opposed by the state machine and it is believed the machine will have the upper hand on the convention floor. This belief may not be well founded but it prevails nevertheless. With Elkin out of the figuring all forecasts as to the result are problematical. There are a number of names mentioned, but the only man who could select a winner from the collection refutes at this time to announce his choice. This Warwick is Senator Quay. His adherents believe he has absolute control of a majority of the delegates and if he wished could settle the question in short order. Unless he has divinized his mind in strictest confidence to his trusted lieutenants he has not signified his choice for the gubernatorial nomination. He has slated Elkin for defeat and so far as is known this is all of his program that has materialized. The rest will probably be forthcoming tomorrow. Meanwhile Elkin and his supporters have not lost heart and express their determination to fight "the boss" to the last ditch.

WOMAN'S CLUB

THE KENTUCKY FEDERATION MEETS AT PARIS TODAY.

Paris, Ky., June 10—The Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs opened its annual convention here today. The delegates commenced arriving last evening, and all were promptly escorted to the quarters assigned them. The arrangements for the meeting are of the most perfect and elaborate character. The auditorium of the old Christian church, where the meetings are held, has been most handsomely decorated with immense palms, vines and flowers. The session this evening is in the nature of a welcome together with an elaborate musical program. The real business will commence tomorrow forenoon. Large delegations are present from Louisville, Bowling Green and other cities of the state.

DAVIS BACK IN THE CHURCH.

GOVERNOR RECEIVED IN FULL FELLOWSHIP AT HIS OLD HOME.

Little Rock, Ark., June 10—Governor Jeff Davis is again a member of the Baptist church in good standing. Immediately after his expulsion from the Second Baptist church of Little Rock the governor received a number of letters from his old home at Russellville inviting him to return and again join the Baptist church of that place. He went to Russellville yesterday and was today received in full fellowship in the church. Governor Davis' friends claim that this is a complete vindication.

LOCATES IN LOUISVILLE.

Mr. Courtney Wadlington, who has for the past several years been employed at George O. Hart's, left today for St. Louis, and from there goes to Louisville to accept a position with the Hart Hardware company, of that place. Mr. Wadlington's many friends will regret to hear that he is to leave Paducah, but will wish him success in his new position.

THE CREDIT MEN

National Association Called to Order Today in Louisville.

Many Delegates Representing Great Mercantile Interests Present.

Louisville, Ky., June 10—President E. A. Young of St. Paul called the annual meeting of the National Association of Credit Men to order in Liederkrantz hall this morning. There were nearly 600 delegates present representing the vital part of the great mercantile interests all over the country. Former Governor W. O. Bradley and Walter Walker welcomed them. The response was by George F. Dietrich of Cincinnati. Treasurer George G. Ford submitted a report of the financial condition of the association. The report of Secretary William A. Prendergast showed that the membership has been increasing during the past year, the association forming a number of new branches and its growth in the south and west being notable.

The sessions of the convention are to continue three days. Bankruptcy, exemption laws, operation in collections and the proposed combination with the credit clearing house are some of the questions to receive attention.

WHEAT PROSPECTS

AN ENCOURAGING TURN GIVEN BY FAVORABLE WEATHER.

Duluth, Minn., June 10—The favorable weather conditions of the last few weeks have given a most encouraging turn to the prospects for the spring wheat crop in the great wheat raising states of Minnesota and the Dakotas. The possibilities, according to reliable reports, are for a large crop. Last year's wheat acreage in the three states was about 14,700,000 acres; this year's will be a few hundred thousand acres less. But while wheat will be shortened a trifle, the abundant moisture of the spring will aid the crop in growth. There will be a far larger crop this year of other grains than wheat, if the present promise is fulfilled. The flax crop is estimated for the three states at a little over 3,500,000 acres of land.

SEVERAL THOUSAND

MONEY BEING DISTRIBUTED BY THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Mr. W. B. Writers, real estate dealer and claim agent of the Illinois Central, who is assisting the road in securing right of way over land wanted for the Cairo division, left this morning for the country with vouchers for about $1,000, which will be distributed among the farmers who have ceded right of way. The largest amount goes to Mr. Clark Fortson, who receives $1,200 for the company's crossing his property.

The Danger Period for the Nervous and Broken Down in Health Is Rapidly Drawing Nigh.

Paine's Celery Compound

Banishes all Symptoms of Disease and Nourishes the Nervous System.

Paine's Celery Compound has saved thousands of people from nervous prostration and collapse brought on through sleeplessness, weakened nerves, and impoverished blood. The great medicine has made thousands well. It has conquered weakness and ill health when everything else has failed.

This is the time when nervous debility and nervous prostration begin to manifest themselves. The coming hot weather will only add fuel to the fire of suffering and disease.

If there is mental depression, loss of energy, lack of vivacity, dullness of the eyes, blanched cheeks and lips, confusion in the head, defective memory, love of solitude—all these are direct indications of coming mental collapse, and call for the immediate use of that nerve feeder, strength giver, and blood enlivener, Paine's Celery Compound. This Heaven-sent prescription is a peerless remedy for your dangerous troubles. President T. J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers of the United States, writes from Pittsburgh, Pa., as follows:

"In 1899 I was compelled to abandon my profession because of nervous prostration consequent upon exposure, hard study, and overwork. A number of physicians declared I would never recover, but I tried Paine's Celery Compound, and in less than a year increased in weight from 141 lbs to 215 pounds. During the recent strike of the Steel Workers, finding myself ready to collapse, and fearing a recurrence of my former trouble, I returned to my former friend, Paine's Celery Compound, and already am feeling more vigorous and able to meet and discharge the duties of my office."

MYSTIC SHRINERS

THE CARAVANS HAVE ARRIVED AND THE CONCLAVE OPENED TODAY.

San Francisco, Cal., June 10—The business session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Imperial Council, A. A. O. N. M. S., which began in this city today, was preceded by a street parade escorting the members of the grand body from headquarters to the convention hall. The public exercises were held in Golden Gate hall, during which addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Schmitz and others, responded to by Imperial Potentate Philip C. Shaffer of Philadelphia. The council then went into legislative session.

The steamer Charleston will leave this afternoon at 5 o'clock for Tennessee river.

The Clyde will leave tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock on her regular trip up the Tennessee river.

The John S. Hopkins arrived from Evansville a little late this morning with a good trip both in freight and passengers.

The small steamer Jewel has arrived at Greenville and is to run from there to Lake Village, a distance of 15 miles. The boat was capsized and wrecked in a storm, but was later rebuilt at Monett City, Ill.

No difficulty is being experienced now at St. Louis by the captains in securing enough roasters for the boats and more applications are received than can be given berths. On the lower river, however, it is reported that the boats can hardly be manned, owing to the scarcity of the men.

The inventory of the ties on Cumberland river has just been completed by Mr. L. E. Holley and assistants, of the Ayer and Lord Tie Co., of Chicago. Mr. Holley will leave tomorrow again but this time for Tennessee river to invoice ties on that river. The figures from the Cumberland river trip show that fewer ties have been lost and stolen than the company expected and the results are gratifying. Mr. Holley will go on the steamer Inspector No. 2.

CUBA'S FIRST DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVE EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON.

Havana, June 10—Gonzalo Quesada, Cuban minister to Washington, and family sailed today on the steamer Morro Castle for New York. He will go immediately to Washington and open the legation at the Hotel Raleigh until he secures a house.

Cuba's first diplomatic representative is the bearer of the good wishes of President Palma to President Roosevelt. He has also been instructed to use every endeavor to secure favorable and quick action on the question of tariff reduction on Cuban products. A large number of friends was aboard to say goodbye and wish Senor Quesada success. He was presented with several fine floral pieces.

Joseph Springer, United States vice consul at Havana during the terms of Consuls General Williams and Lee, who sailed on the steamer Esperanza Thursday for New York, was summoned, the Globe-Democrat correspondent learns, to Washington by cable.

He has been offered his former office and refused. He has been ambitious to be consul general here, and his trip north, it is believed, may result in his appointment and the transfer of General Bragg, who has been named for this post, to another country.

Colonel Carlos Garcia, oldest son of the late General Calixto Garcia, will probably be sent by President Palma to Hamburg as consul general.

WACO'S BRIDGE

ITS CONSTRUCTION WAS A VAST FEAT OF ENGINEERING.

Waco, Tex., June 10—The magnificent new steel bridge over the Brazos, one of the largest in the United States, was formally opened to traffic today. The bridge is 450 feet long of solid steel, sixty-six feet high in the center of the truss and without any supporting piers other than those at the ends of the structure. The span is one of the longest in the world and its construction is considered quite an engineering feat in view of the difficulties which had to be overcome.

MOTHER'S FRIEND*

makes childhood easy and almost painless, by preparing food stem for partition, thus assisting Nature, and shortening the period of lactation, and the danger thereto greatly lessened, to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the milk increased, and the child thrives.

Morning sickness, or nausea arising from pregnancy is prevented by relieving the stomach from the pressure brought to bear on it by the weight of the womb and by which it is relieved through synapses.

As pregnancy advances, the breasts enlarge, become swollen, hard and stiff. Come before the child is born, and by preparing for the secretion of milk. It is important to successful child rearing that these glands receive early stimulation. Mother's Friend softens the breasts, stimulates the glands to secrete the secretion of Life Fluid. Undeveloped and recalcitrant ducts, and breeds hard caking shortly after delivery, and causes pain and inflammation.

Mother's Friend stimulates the secretion of Life Fluid, Undeveloped and recalcitrant ducts, and breeds hard caking shortly after delivery, and causes pain and inflammation.

Mother's Friend softens the breasts externally and rubbed into the flesh over the region of pain.

Softness, pliability and expansion are given to the muscles, tissues, glands and skin, and the body is made more pliable, and gives greater control, while with heavy burden, and cause easy loss of the child. Try it all drugs $1.00. Our book "Motherhood" free.

NORTH CAROLINA MAN INVITES HIS FRIENDS TO A NOVEL DINNER.

Ellenboro, N. C., June 10—Allan Cogdell, one of the wealthiest men in this county, has sent out printed invitations to a number of his friends and relatives inviting them to a dinner to be held at his house, four miles from here tonight. The dinner is to be served at 11 o'clock. Promptly at 12 o'clock, Cogdell announces, he will give his guests an opportunity of seeing a man take his own life. Just now Cogdell will commit the deed is not stated and there is much interest manifested as to whether or not it is to be a case of real suicide.

TRUST COMPANIES AS EXECUTORS.

The Globe Bank and Trust Co. will have a paid in capital of $150,000, invested in good securities, for the faithful custody and management of the property intrusted to it.

Every trust company in the state is under the jurisdiction of the secretary of state, and a quarterly report is required by law to be made to him, and published.

When it comes to making investments for estates held in trust, trust companies have a reputation for skill and fidelity which a careful company of good standing guards as carefully as it does its capital. The Globe Bank and Trust company has a committee, composed of three of its best business men, to whom all matters relating to trust estates are referred when advice and consultation is necessary.

Therefore a trust company is absolutely reliable and responsible—better than an individual.

The Globe Bank and Trust company besides doing a trust company business does a general banking business and pays interest on deposits. Office 306 Broadway.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"If one knows enough to do his daily duty, to live his daily life, he knows enough not to be dismayed or hopeless or skeptical."

THE WEATHER.

Fair weather tonight and Wednesday fair.

A VITAL QUESTION.

The pulpit, press and public administration are supposed to advocate and agitate what is best for the happiness, health, or general welfare of the greatest number.

The greatest good to the greatest number is a principle universally recognized in legislating for the people. It is unfortunate that some classes seem to forget it. Majority, in a government like ours, should rule. We are not expected to advocate or enact laws that make some class, perchance some unfortunate class, beneficiaries at the expense of the majority. It is very unwise and very unjust in any minority class of people to think that because they are poor, sick or unable to make a living, that the welfare of those who are rich, well and happy should be tampered with to please or benefit these few. We should try to benefit the many, and if in doing this the few are displeased, it is their misfortune. This is true in the cow case. If out of twenty thousand people in Paducah there are a majority who own cows, and these cow owners desire to turn their cows loose to run at large in the streets, then the minority, who do not own cows, should quietly submit, for majority should rule.

If, however, a majority of the people do not own cows, and if they want the few who do own cows to keep them up, the cow law should be passed. It is plain to anyone that the majority of people, or even the majority of voters, do not own cows. There are not a thousand cows in the entire city, yet there are twenty thousand people and several thousand voters. This being the case, it is sheer arrogance for the poorer class or any other class to contend that Paducah should allow cows to roam the streets to please them—only a few of the residents and taxpayers. We should seek the greatest good to the greatest number and we cannot secure it by legislating for the benefit of a few people who want to feed their cows at public expense. They do not feed their children at the public expense, and there is no reason they should feed their cows that way.

The idea of beauty, progress, and health has been entirely eliminated from the theory of the cow people. Their only plea is that it is necessary for the few people who own cows, to allow everybody who owns a cow and can't afford to feed it, to let it go where it wants to, whether it be to the commons or some private yard. This is not reason. It is not the wish of the few poor people who own cows, that the council and aldermen should consider, bat the comfort and happiness of the overwhelming majority who do not want our city disfigured by the sight of cows serenely grazing in public places and do not want yards and lawns devastated by day and by night by the ruthless beasts. Petitions do not count. It is easy for any man to see, even if he possesses no more intelligence than the average councilman, that the people who own cows are vastly in the minority in Paducah, and that public sentiment is against allowing cows to roam at large.

The Democrats have exhausted everything else, and are now trying to start another row between the President and Senator Hanna. Such men as President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna do not fall out over trifles, and if they should, their diplomacy would prevent their letting it reach the Democratic newspapers. The explanation that Senator Hanna became offended because alleged irregularities of Cleveland, Ohio, office-holders are to be investigated is too absurd to think about for a moment. Senator Hanna would not object to an investigation of the irregularities of anyone.

An attorney is employed in a case to prosecute or defend. For a few dollars—or many, as it sometimes is—he will go into a court and without regard for fact or justice, say anything that may be necessary to carry his point or win his case. He is no respector of persons, and has no consideration for the feelings of the man on the opposite side. When these attorneys are criticised in a public capacity by a newspaper, however, they are usually the first ones to raise a howl and whine that they are sorely mistreated.

Mayor Yeiser is quoted as having said that the city has a five year guarantee from the contractors, and that they would have to repair the elevation in the concrete sidewalk on Broadway near Fifth. The contractors seem to be a little slow, and the people are beginning to wonder if they are going to repair the sidewalks any quicker than they repaired the streets when the council ordered them to do so about two years ago.

The governor of Alabama has just pardoned three Lynchers. They only helped hang a negro who did nothing but quarrel with a white man, and they received only ten years each. Another reason they were pardoned is doubtless that they are said to be the only white men ever convicted in Alabama for lynching a negro, and it would be very unwise to break such a long and honored record.

If the people and papers would pay more attention to "busting" the farmers' trust and demolishing the sky-high prices that prevail on the market, they would get more to eat for less money, and have more cash to buy things they do not need, that are controlled by other so-called trusts.

It is given out officially that the new city engineer is to be paid $1,800 a year, although the salary fixed by law is $1,200. It may not be fully understood how this can be legally done, but the patient, philanthropic public should remember that most anything can be done under the present administration.

It is possible that a vote may be reached on the canal bill by Saturday, but hardly probable. Some of our ambitions congressmen are determined that what they have to say must be said, no matter if it consumes the greater part of eternity.

A country negro at Memphis got so drunk on the beverage sold there for whiskey that he shot his wife and didn't know it. We have a few brands in Kentucky that will enable you to shoot yourself and never know it.

Senator Quay still seems to be on top in Pennsylvania, judging from the forecasts of tomorrow's convention.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

A Large Delegation Will be Present at London.

A Prosperous Year Will Be Shown by the Reports.

The Baptist General Association of Kentucky, which is to convene in London tomorrow, is a large, enthusiastic and representative religious assembly. The white Baptists alone number 180,000 in Kentucky. They have their share of adherents in the villages and cities, and have a majority of the inhabitants of the great mountain section of Eastern Kentucky, in which London is situated.

The association consists of delegates selected by district associations and by local congregations. They meet and hear reports from the public officials along missionary, temperance and educational lines. These reports are open to a free and full discussion by both clergy and laity.

Last year over $33,000 passed through the hands of the state secretary, Dr. J. G. Bow, Louisville, for various benevolent objects, especially state, home and foreign missions, and the cause of Christian education. It is expected that there will be 250 or 300 delegates this year, besides many visitors and female workers. The all-absorbing themes before the association are the enlistment of mountain people in the progressive work of the denomination along all lines, and the consideration of Baptist schools in that part of the state.

KING PLEADS GUILTY.

FORMER QUARTERMASTER FINED $8,000 AND SENT TO PRISON FOR THIRTEEN MONTHS.

Mobile, Ala., June 10.—Captain Cyril W. King, former quartermaster in charge at Fort Morgan, who was convicted in the United States court in Mobile last year on the charge of accepting a bribe of $8,000 in connection with work done at the fort, was arraigned yesterday on two counts. He entered a plea of guilty as charged in the first count, and was sentenced to thirteen months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $3,000. The second count was nolle prossed.

In the matter of window displays, remember that there are many persons who make selections from outside, seldom entering a store until they have settled upon some definite article. More especially men. Perhaps you buy that way yourself. When a man has no exact notion of what he wants in the way of suit, ties or overcoat, he will spend a week's odd moments in window-gazing. When he sees something that he likes he enters the store, and not before. Women are not diffident about bothering clerks, but the male human never quite rids himself of the notion that he is encroaching upon somebody's precious time when he hangs over goods without intending to buy. He seldom goes out of a store without making a purchase, and he as seldom comes into one until he has decided what he wants. That decision is generally made from the window.

Advice That Was Not Wanted.

"Ah, will I never be released?" wailed the imprisoned heroine, beating her fair white hands wildly against the bars of her window, while from behind the scenes could be heard the hoarse chuckle of the villain. Many in the audience were seen to apply their handkerchiefs to their eyes. Her prayers for release rose again upon the still air and lost themselves in the echoing files above. "Elchez, git a hobbyus corpus, Joddy," shouted a friend from the gallery, "er walk out over de footlights." And the curtain came down with a whizz.

Story of Who Dog.

Sir Walter Scott tells of one of his dogs that one day furiously attacked the baker and was with great difficulty called off. But as the dog observed the baker coming every day to leave bread for the family, he began to regard him in a more favorable light, and in time the dog and the baker became great friends. One day Sir Walter was telling somebody how the dog had attacked the baker, and as soon as he began the story the dog skulked into the corner of the room, turned his face to the wall, hung down his ears and lowered his tail and displayed every sign of being heartily ashamed of himself. But when he came to the end of his story, and said, "But Tray didn't bite the baker," the dog turned around, jumped and frisked about, and was evidently quite restored to his own good opinion. To try the dog, Scott repeated the story in a different tone of voice in the midst of the conversation, but it was always the same. Directly he began the dog crept into the corner, but when he came to "But Tray didn't bite the baker," he always crept back in triumph.

Hard on the Cook.

Lord John Townsend, a British gourmet of fifty years ago, would often call to the footman in the middle of dinner: "Tell the cook to come to me this moment," which occasioned rather an awkward pause. Then, on the entrance of the poor cook with very red face from the combined effects of the kitchen fire and mental confusion, he would address her in a voice of thunder: "Pray have the goodness to taste that dish and tell me if you do not agree with me that it is beastly."

Two Men Honored by Georgia.

The selection cannot be definitely ratified until a meeting of the commission, to be held in July.

Noblemen in the Palpit.

An English paper mentions the names of some ten noblemen who are preachers. Of these five are ordained priests of the Established church and one is a bishop who is a "lord" in his own right. GREATNESS THRUST UPON HIM

Haw Peur French Poet Was Made Great State Functionary.

A poor Parisian poet named Dubois, during the reign of Napoleon I, addressed an ode to Princess Pauline, Napoleon's favorite sister. A relative to the poet being waiting maid to the princess, presented the ode, with the result that Pauline asked for a poet for M. Dubois, a man of superior gifts. Minister Fouche, delighted to please the princess, called at the poet's humble attic. The poet put his head out of the window of his garret and espied a carriage escorted by gendarmes, concluded that the boldness of his remarks with regard to a universal peace had been badly received by the emperor and that they had come to arrest him. Prompted by his fear, Dubois considered it most prudent to hide under his bed. The poet was got out and was sent to Elba as commissary general of police. It was some time ere Fouche and Pauline met, and the princess had difficulty in remembering the request that she had made for Dubois. "Does not your highness recollect a letter sent to me about three months ago, most pressingly recommending a M. Dubois, a man of letters, in whom your highness took the greatest interest?" "One moment," said the princess, and then a smile overspread her beautiful features. "My protege, M. le Duc, was a poor poet, a relative of one of my maids, who sent me an ode. What have you done with him? Have you given him a stool in one of your departments?" The minstrel, nettled at having been duped in that way, took particular care to suppress the fact of his having made a grand functionary of Dubois. Unfortunately, Fouche's friends at court got wind of the thing and there was an end of the secret. Napoleon himself was vastly amused at it and bantered his minister. Dubois was recalled, but already 300,000 francs had been paid to him.

SENATOR Mc MILLAN'S FINE PUG DOG

Attends Receptions and Escorts His Grandchildren to and from School.

A pug dog has board and lodging in Senator McMillan's stable and he has every qualification to warrant his association on equal terms with the thoroughbred horses that take the millionaire senator to the capitol every morning. Indeed, the pug dog, whose name is Piper, far outshines the thoroughbreds socially, because he has made himself a welcome visitor and great in the senator's Vermont avens house, and Piper would be humiliated if a reception were held at which he was not present. On such occasions he takes his place on a mat in the hall and no visitor escapes his keen, observing eye. Piper's knowledge of affairs often surprises even those who have the highest regard for his intelligence.

The portrait of General Harrison, selected by Mrs. Harrison, represents the late ex-president at his best. He faces two-thirds front, and there is an expression of complete satisfaction, with a just suspicion of a smile, upon his features. The portrait is set in an oval slightly smaller than that enclosing Washington in the current 2-cent stamp.

THE FIRST NIGHTERS

Over a Thousand People at the Kentucky Theatre Last Night.

Mr. Trne S. James' Play "Donglas" Given its First Production There.

STAGE NOTES OF INTEREST

First nighters in Paducah may have left The Kentucky a little tired last night, but they had the satisfaction of knowing that in the first production on any stage of "Donglas, or The Temple of Justice," a play written by Mr. Trne S. James, of the English Stock company, they saw something interesting as well as original. First nights are always more or less fraught with irregularities but the English Stock company did exceedingly well, for many first productions even in New York City, last until after midnight.

The audience numbered over 1,000, the largest in point of numbers that has assembled in The Kentucky since the summer season began. It was composed of many of the best people in Paducah, and Manager English was very much pleased to note the increase. The fans made it so cool in the theater that Manager English had to shut them off. Nobody now doubts the fact that The Kentucky is the coolest place in town.

There was disappointment over the failure of Miss Aline Bagby to appear. She decided at the last moment that the part was more than she could do justice to, considering the brief time in which she had to learn it. Her unexpected decision caused some little confusion among the players, but their tact and natural adaptability enabled them to get through most creditably.

"Donglas" is the story of an atheist husband and Christian wife, and illustrates the infatuation a man may exert in his home. It is something original, and teaches a strong moral lesson. It shows that disaster may attend a man's failure to give the proper attention to his wife and home, and yield nothing but unhappiness and regret. It clearly outlines the possibilities that follow a woman's hunger for the affection and attention that she knows are due her from her husband, and leads her oftentimes to seek them elsewhere.

It likewise shows the possibility of leading through love and remorse some errant soul into the right path, and restoring it to happiness. The scene is laid in Colorado near the Garden of the Gods. The settings were well displayed.

Mr. James appears as "Donglas," the philosopher and astronomer, and Miss Gale as "Mrs. Donglas." They are afforded an opportunity to do good and impressive work, and both parts are admirable, the characters being of gentle, noble people, separated only by the barrier of religion.

They love their child, Phyllis, who seems to love her father better, according to the mother's unhappiness. The wife in sitting for a portrait falls in love with the artist, Munzel, and they are caught in their first embrace by the doctor, who reproaches the woman and drives the man away.

She leaves home, it is never made quite clear whether to meet her lover and fly with him or simply to escape the wrath of her husband. She becomes a red cross nurse and returns fifteen years later in time to witness the marriage of her daughter Phyllis, who in the meantime has been disowned by her own father on the morbid presumption that she is not his own child, and to receive the forgiveness of her husband, on whom the light of truth suddenly dawns after a frenzy which drives him blind.

The work of Mr. James and Miss Gale received the heartiest applause, and everyone seemed to appreciate its artistic merits.

Mr. Forsythe, as "Dr. Hamilton Vaughan," next to the leading role, was very clever, and makes an ideal doctor. Mr. Harmon, in the double role, Franz Munzel, the artist, and afterwards Robert Trenton, the lieutenant, won his usual laurels. Mr. Harmon always acts well, and has a clear, penetrating voice and an attractive stage presence.

The comedy parts were those of Messrs. Grigg, Seaton and Florence, who played the "three old boys," men of the town who have cultivated a good, sympathetic nature during years of innocent idleness, and have become public property to a certain extent. Their work was done well.

Master Riley and his sister, Little Pearl May, took the child parts, and won much applause. They are both clever and never faltered or missed a line, although both are very young to appear with professionals.

Miss Stockton, as "Phyllis," daughter of "Donglas," received her usual welcome, and the audience found that the character is one of the best she has yet portrayed. Her interpretation was artistic, and made the character what it was intended to be, one of the brightest and most attractive in the cast. She and Mr. Harmon as the young lovers furnished much of the comedy in the play.

Miss Wayne donned, taking the part to have been played by Miss Bagby, "Martha," and her own, "Fatty Susanna," which were merged at the last moment. It was a character part requiring ability, and Miss Wayne also contributed to the amusement of the audience by her splendid comedy work.

The play will not be so wordy and apparently lacking in action when subsequently produced. After the first production a play is always pruned and revised and details looked after. The theme is new and the characters well drawn by Mr. James, and the story is pretty, and one that ought to go well with the people. Mr. James has done well, but he will improve his work. It is hoped that it will prove to be a great success, and it is believed that it will. Some of the acts, especially the third, were last night too long. The people will not stand for long acts from any writer, known or unknown, and the acts in "Donglas" will doubtless be properly entailed, for Mr. James knows what the people want, and tries to give it to them.

Miss Alma Hays' specialty was unusually good, and she admirably sang "My Cotton Blossom," words by Mr. G. Leake Thompson and music by Prof. Harry Gilbert of Paducah.

Miss Emma Duvall, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Duvall of Jefferson street, Paducah, will be married Thursday to Dr. Joseph Adler of Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Duvall was one of the pretty members of the "Little Duchess" company this past season, and is known in the East for her contralto voice. She has been on the stage over four years.

Although cool weather kept many from La Belle Park last night, a fairly good audience witnessed the new play, "A Dashing Widow." The play and specialties proved very satisfactory to the audience. The same bill holds forth tonight and tomorrow night, and on Thursday night "The Castaway," a very entertaining comedy-drama, is announced.

Here's news from Mayfield: Messrs. John Brooks and Ernie Tate, two handsome young gents of the English Stock company, that is occupying the Kentucky theatre during the summer season, came out last evening and spent a few hours with Mayfield's fair sex.—Mayfield Messenger.

The knickerbocker costume for Miss Justina Wayne's impersonation of "The Singing Girl" will arrive tomorrow, and she will appear in this last specialty, during the last three nights of the week.

Miss Pearl J. Ford of Indianapolis, daughter of Mr. Clint Ford of Owenton, the well known actor, will be here tomorrow to take Miss Justina Wayne's place in the English Stock company.

Saturday afternoon Manager J. E. English will give a "chewing gum matinee." Every one of the first 500 ladies will receive a 5-cent package of Colgan's chewing gum.

GAME IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Plenty of Deer and Wild Boars and Almost Every Known Variety of Birds in Large Numbers.

In many ways our new possessions in the orient are well entitled to be styled a hunter's paradise, for although about the only sport now being indulged in is that of hunting insurgent bands, the islands of the Philippine archipelago are filled with game animals, and game birds swarm in the forests and jungles, while the inland waters in many instances are literally covered with many varieties of water fowl.

For those who incline to hunting big game there is the boar, a fierce and savage beast, which runs wild among the dense tropical jungles where elephants and other tropical fruits afford abundance of food and satiate his omnivorous appetite, says Field and Stream.

All over the wooded parts of Luzon great numbers of deer run, being little troubled by the natives, who are not much given to hunting, and who have little craving for a meat diet.

While monkeys, which seem to be more numerous than most any other wild animal to be found on the islands, are not to be considered in the legitimate class of game, yet one can scarcely resist the temptation to try a shot at the leader of the great army of these chattering creatures which is always present in the picturesque jungles of Luzon. Minimino, Negros, Panay and the other islands.

Coming down to smaller game, the tagua or guilu, a kind of flying squirrel, seems to be in every tree, and a rather odd, web-footed, furry animal it is. The natives make pets of this queer squirrel, and one can see hundreds displayed in cages about Manila.

Another little animal which attracts one's attention in the Philippine jungles is the marten. It is a natural enemy of rats and mice, but has no value to the sportsman. Vampires and great bats fly aimlessly past one in the stillness of these tropical woodlands, and parrots and other tropical birds in their brilliant plumage are ever present wherever there is foliage in the land of everlasting summer.

In the days before Dewey's guns began their fusillade against the Spanish positions about Manila by thousands of wild geese and wild ducks could be seen daily. Along the Pasig these fowls congregated in myriads, and about Laguna de Bay, the largest lake on Luzon, some 15 miles up the Pasig from Manila, the water at times was black with many varieties of water fowl.

The tipoi, a species of crane which stands five feet high, probably the largest water fowl to be found in the islands, was in evidence about the lake by the hundreds. There were great flocks of wild geese and swans. Of the wild duck family there seemed to be every representative present. There were canvasbacks, mallards, redheads and all the smaller members of the duck genus.

HAWAIIAN MONEY.

The System of Coinage in Operation in the Islands and Amount in Circulation.

"Comparatively few persons in the United States are familiar with the financial conditions in Hawaii," said Mr. A. R. Serven, chief examiner of the civil service commission, to a Washington Star reporter a few days ago. Mr. Serven paid a visit to our new possessions in the Pacific about a year ago and he made a pretty thorough investigation of affairs there.

"Fewer still," he continued, "are acquainted in figures with the amount of coinage in circulation in Hawaii. In 1883 King Kalakaua bought up a lot of silver bullion and sent $1,000,000 worth to the San Francisco mints, where it was coined into dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes of the same weight and fineness of American silver coins."

"The money in circulation in the Hawaiian Islands is about $2,000,000. Silver passes at its full coinage value anywhere on the islands. Off the islands it is received at about 40 cents on the dollar. In paying debts outside the Islands the Hawaiian people encounter all sorts of trouble as the result, often.

"Of the silver coined at the San Francisco mint there was $500,000 in dollars, $350,000 in half dollars, $125,000 in quarters and $25,000 in dimes. The people of Hawaii, including many business men with whom I talked, were emphatic in their expressions that the congress of the United States should recognize the silver currency of the territory at the same value as American silver, or should take it up and make the coin of the United States the medium of exchange throughout the Islands."

Filipino Laborers for Hawaii.
Representatives of Hawaiian planters are in the Philippines to ascertain whether it is feasible to import farm laborers from the archipelago to Hawaii. The scheme is generally regarded as impracticable, for the reason that the percentage of skilled agriculturalists among the Filipinos is very small.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

NEW BISHOPS NAMED.

THE POPE ANNOUNCES SELECTIONS FOR AUGUSTINE, FLA., AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA.

Rome, June 10.—The pope was present at the consistory held yesterday.

He was borne to the Sistine Chapel in the Sedis Cestatoria, surrounded by cardinals, and formally bestowed red hats on Mgrs. Martinelli, formerly papal delegate in the United States; Prince Archibishop Skerlensky, of Prague, and Prince Bishop Von Preysing, of Cracow.

The pontiff also appointed several bishops, including the Very Rev. William J. Kenny, vicar general of St. Augustine, Fla., in succession to the late Bishop Augustin Verot, and the Very Rev. Philip J. Garrigan, vice rector of the Catholic University at Washington, as Bishop of Sioux City, Ia.

Subsequently at the consistory the pontiff delivered a short allocution. Judge Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, and the Americans with him, were invited to witness the ceremony. The party occupied seats in the diplomatic gallery, in the Sala Regia, entrance hall to the Sistine chapel. As the pontiff passed he recognized them, and smilingly bowed to the Americans.

RICH HAWAIIAN BEDSTEAD.

Coach for a Princess Being Carved from Rare Native Woods in Artistic Manner.

When carver and polisher shall have done with the bedstead which is being made at Honolulu for Princess Kawananakoa, the bride of the young son-in-law of Col. Sam Parker will repose in a couch truly worthy of a princess. The woods employed are kauila and kou, and the carvings are representative of all the various characteristic fruits of the islands, states the San Francisco Bulletin.

The wood from which the tall posts of the bed are made was obtained from an old building and is thoroughly cured, in many places being so well done that it has been cracked and split. The posts measure eight feet in height, and from the base to the top, which represents the crown of Hawaii, they will be, when complete, a mass of carving.

The kou wood, which is used in the headboard, is plieered for nine panels, all of which are of kauila, polished to the highest degree. Surmounting this board, which will be placed between the high posts, will be a great crown, supported on either side by sheaves of fern leaves.

The four posts will be works of art. The crown will surmount each of them, and the decorations will be designs of various fruits and flowers of the islands.

The foot of the bed will be a grill work with spindles between two round poles, which connect the foot posts. The woods are to be polished. The rails are of oak with a veneering of kau, which will be relieved by a beading above and below.

FUNNY LITTLE FILIPINOS.

Amazing Tales of the School Children in the Island of Samar.

Writing from the Island of Samar Mr. Elmer Latson, a Kansas who went to the Philippines to teach school, tells some amusing stories of Filipino children, says the Kansas City Journal. He says that when the boys and girls come into the school house, the boys have on coats and trousers and the girls are dressed in quite a proper way. But as soon as they are dismissed, they shed a portion of their clothing, and go about the town in scanty apparel. If American ladies had a custom of going about the streets in decollete and wore high-necked dresses in the ballroom, the Philippines style would have its parallel. One day in school, Mr. Latson asked his pupils to construct an English sentence having the word "come" in it. One boy gravely answered: "I shall go to hell." Another said: "I shall go to the blessed land of the free." Still another answered: "I will drink a bol n ber." The boy who proposed to drink a bottle of beer had no doubt been impressed by American customs, but there is something of a shock in the reply made by the second boy when he was asked to locate the "Blessed land of the free." "It is in the cemetery," he responded, showing that the notion of no peace this side of the grave has been implanted among the barbarians.

Henniker Heaton, in "The Leisure Hour," tells the following characteristic story of Charles Stewart Parnell, showing the latter's power of detachment: "He came into the house of parliament one afternoon when the fiercest excitement prevailed regarding the publication by the Times of the forged Pigott letters. He in a short speech denied the authorship of the letters and then walked into the lobby and engaged me in earnest conversation. Everybody thought he was telling me of the awful political event then stirring men's minds. This is what he said to me: 'I have just read in the afternoon papers that a mountain of gold has been discovered in western Australia, and that some tons of the specimens have been sent home to you.'

"I replied that it was true, and that I had in my locker in the house some of the crushed specimens. We proceeded to get them, and I gave him a wineglassful of the 'crushing.' He took it away with him, and to the bewilderment of his party no one saw him for a week, and very few indeed knew his address.

"On that day week, Mr. Heaton proceeds, "almost at the same hour he again appeared in the lobby. Walking up to me he said, smilingly: 'I have analyzed the specimens, and they go 32 ounces of gold to the ton.' I said he was wrong. He then took from his pocket a scrap of paper and read: 'Twenty-seven ounces of gold and five ounces of silver.' I replied that this was indeed remarkable, for it exactly coincided with the analysis of Johnston, Matthey & Co., the famous metallurgists. Parnell then showed me the small pouch of gold he had obtained. I expressed surprise at his work. He said: 'The fact is, I take a small workshop to test the minerals in the mountains of Wicklow, same portion of which I own.' The astonishing thing is that while his hundreds of thousands of adherents were fulminating against the Times he was quietly working away testing minerals in his laboratory."

A JAPANESE INCENSE PARTY.

Five Points of Etiquette Observed by Participants in a Curious and Interesting Ceremony.

If you ever receive an invitation to a Japanese incense party except it promptly and thinkfully, it has no counterpart in our own social system, and is as merry and pleasant an affair as can be imagined. The people of the Mikado's land have trained the utensils for generations the same as we have trained the eye and ear, and they display a skill which at times is startling to a westerner. There is an odd etiquette to be followed in these social affairs. For the 24 hours preceding the party, each guest must avoid the use of anything which can produce any odor whatever. Scented soaps, perfumes, odorous foods, and even spices must be avoided. These prevent the user from smelling accurately and also interfere with the other members of the party, says the New York Post.

When you dress be careful to put on no garment that has been kept in the neighborhood of camphor wood, tobacco, bouquets, dried blossoms, or scented face powder. When you reach the house of your host enter it as softly as you can, and as slowly as possible. This is to prevent making a draught by the movement of your own body. Be equally leisurely in opening and closing doors, as a quick movement induces a sudden rush of air. In the drawing-room the hostess burns a series of incenses usually four or five in number. Each guest is allowed to take three sniffs of each incense and must then jot down its name and number upon a card. Each of the four or five incenses is burned two or three times, so that the number of cards will vary from eight to fifteen. At the end the cards are laid out on the table and the hostess reads the names of the incenses employed, which are checked off upon the cards. The guest who has guessed the largest number receives a pretty prize, which is sometimes a silver or bronze incense-burner, statuette, or carving. Among the Japanese the average woman guesses correctly about six times in ten, while with American women the ratio is three in ten. Occasionally, however, American women display a natural talent in this line, and make records of eight and nine in ten. There is a large Japanese colony in New York, and among the wives of the leading merchants these parties are quite common.

PARNELL AS ON ASSAYER.

The Famous Statesman Calmly Test ed Gold Ore at the Most Exciting Period of His Life.

Henniker Heaton, in "The Leisure Hour," tells the following characteristic story of Charles Stewart Parnell, showing the latter's power of detachment: "He came into the house of parliament one afternoon when the fiercest excitement prevailed regarding the publication by the Times of the forged Pigott letters. He in a short speech denied the authorship of the letters and then walked into the lobby and engaged me in earnest conversation. Everybody thought he was telling me of the awful political event then stirring men's minds. This is what he said to me: 'I have just read in the afternoon papers that a mountain of gold has been discovered in western Australia, and that some tons of the specimens have been sent home to you.'

"I replied that it was true, and that I had in my locker in the house some of the crushed specimens. We proceeded to get them, and I gave him a wineglassful of the 'crushing.'

He took it away with him, and to the bewilderment of his party no one saw him for a week, and very few indeed knew his address.

"On that day week, Mr. Heaton proceeds, "almost at the same hour he again appeared in the lobby. Walking up to me he said, smilingly: 'I have analyzed the specimens, and they go 32 ounces of gold to the ton.'

I said he was wrong. He then took from his pocket a scrap of paper and read: 'Twenty-seven ounces of gold and five ounces of silver.'

I replied that this was indeed remarkable, for it exactly coincided with the analysis of Johnston, Matthey & Co., the famous metallurgists. Parnell then showed me the small pouch of gold he had obtained. I expressed surprise at his work. He said: 'The fact is, I take a small workshop to test the minerals in the mountains of Wicklow, same portion of which I own.'

The astonishing thing is that while his hundreds of thousands of adherents were fulminating against the Times he was quietly working away testing minerals in his laboratory."

A JAZZY REFLECTION.

He's passed the ermine state once more.
We need not longer frate—
Tho' glorious "Fourth" some times is a'er,
And Willin' with us yet.

Though mumps and measles may command

A certain share of fear.

The glorious "Fourth" more deadly and

He has it once a year.

COUNTY COURT.

A NUMBER OF SETTLEMENTS ORDERED RECORDED YES-TERDAY.

There was little done in county court yesterday and the following is all the business transacted:

In the matter of removing F. G. Randolph as administrator of the estate of the late W. S. Bishop and the appointment of another administrator, the court decided not to act until Saturday and will try the matter then. The following settlements were ordered recorded:

F. G. Randolph guardian of Marie Page; F. G. Randolph, administrator of Alex Winston; F. G. Randolph guardian of Henry Page; L. E. and J. M. Durrett, executors of the estate of John S. Durrett; Morris Maxon, guardian of Howard Robinson; T. J. Milam, administrator of the estate of Vitura Procter; and John O. Sirk, guardian of Ann Crawford.

The settlement with R. Loeb, guardian of Adolph and Beatrice Loeb was ordered left in abeyance until next term.

The inventory and appraisement of the estate of Charles McGuire, made and filed some time ago, was ordered recorded.

POLICE COURT.

ONLY ONE OFFENDER BEFORE JUDGE SANDERS TODAY.

There was only one offender before Judge Sanders this morning, and court remained in session a few minutes only.

James Carroll, the beggar who was arrested yesterday afternoon for using insulting and profane language in the Poage and Soule establishments, was given until noon to leave town. He had met with an accident some time in his life that had deprived him of his legs, from the knee on down, and he seemed to have a tendency to impose on the public on account of his condition, which rendered it impossible to give him a good thrashing, something he deserved more than a mere fine and sentence in the lockup.

ACCIDENT FATAL.

BOY DIES AT FULTON FROM A PISTOL WOUND. . . .

Giltner Cook, aged 18, who was accidentally shot yesterday afternoon at Fulton, his home, while playing with a gun, died yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the effects of the wound. It entered his mouth and went into his brain. The little fellow's funeral will be held tomorrow. He is a cousin of Dr. Will Whayne, of the city, and a brother of Mr. Alex Cook, the young man who has for the past two years been studying medicine under Dr. Wayne.

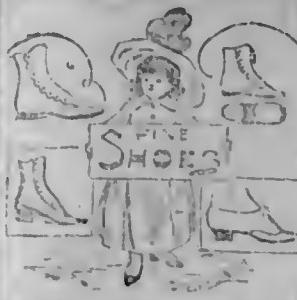

THE BENTON COURT.

The Benton circuit court began active work this morning, and the first case on the docket was the inquest case against James Greer, charged with the murder of John Thomas, colored, at Little Cypress. Jack Bloomfield, the young attorney, has been admitted to practice at that bar.

AN OLD DESK.

Mr. Dick Rosenthal, the second hand dealer, has an old fashioned library desk that was shipped here in 1864 or thereabouts to Watts-Given and Co., bankers, who kept where the Armour building is now located. The desk is still in a good condition.
